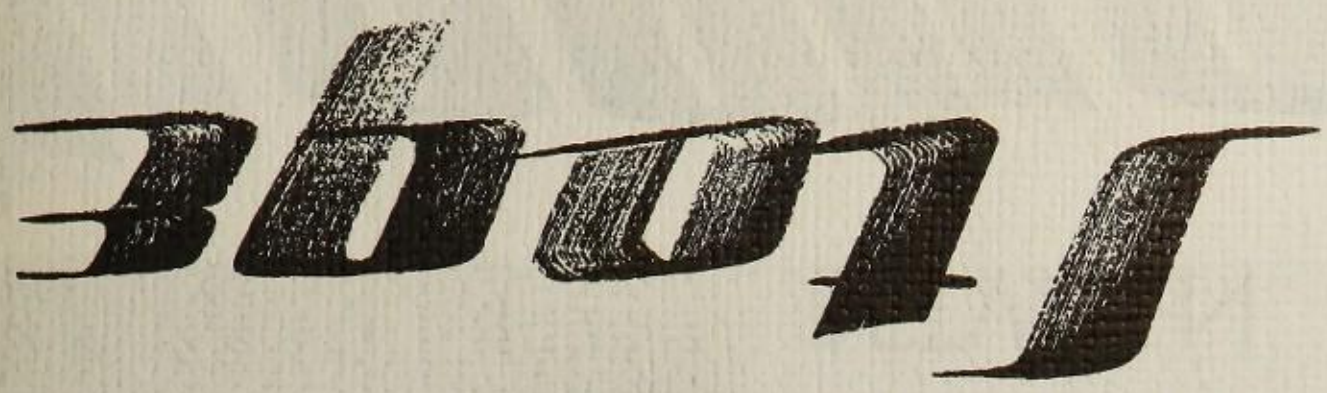
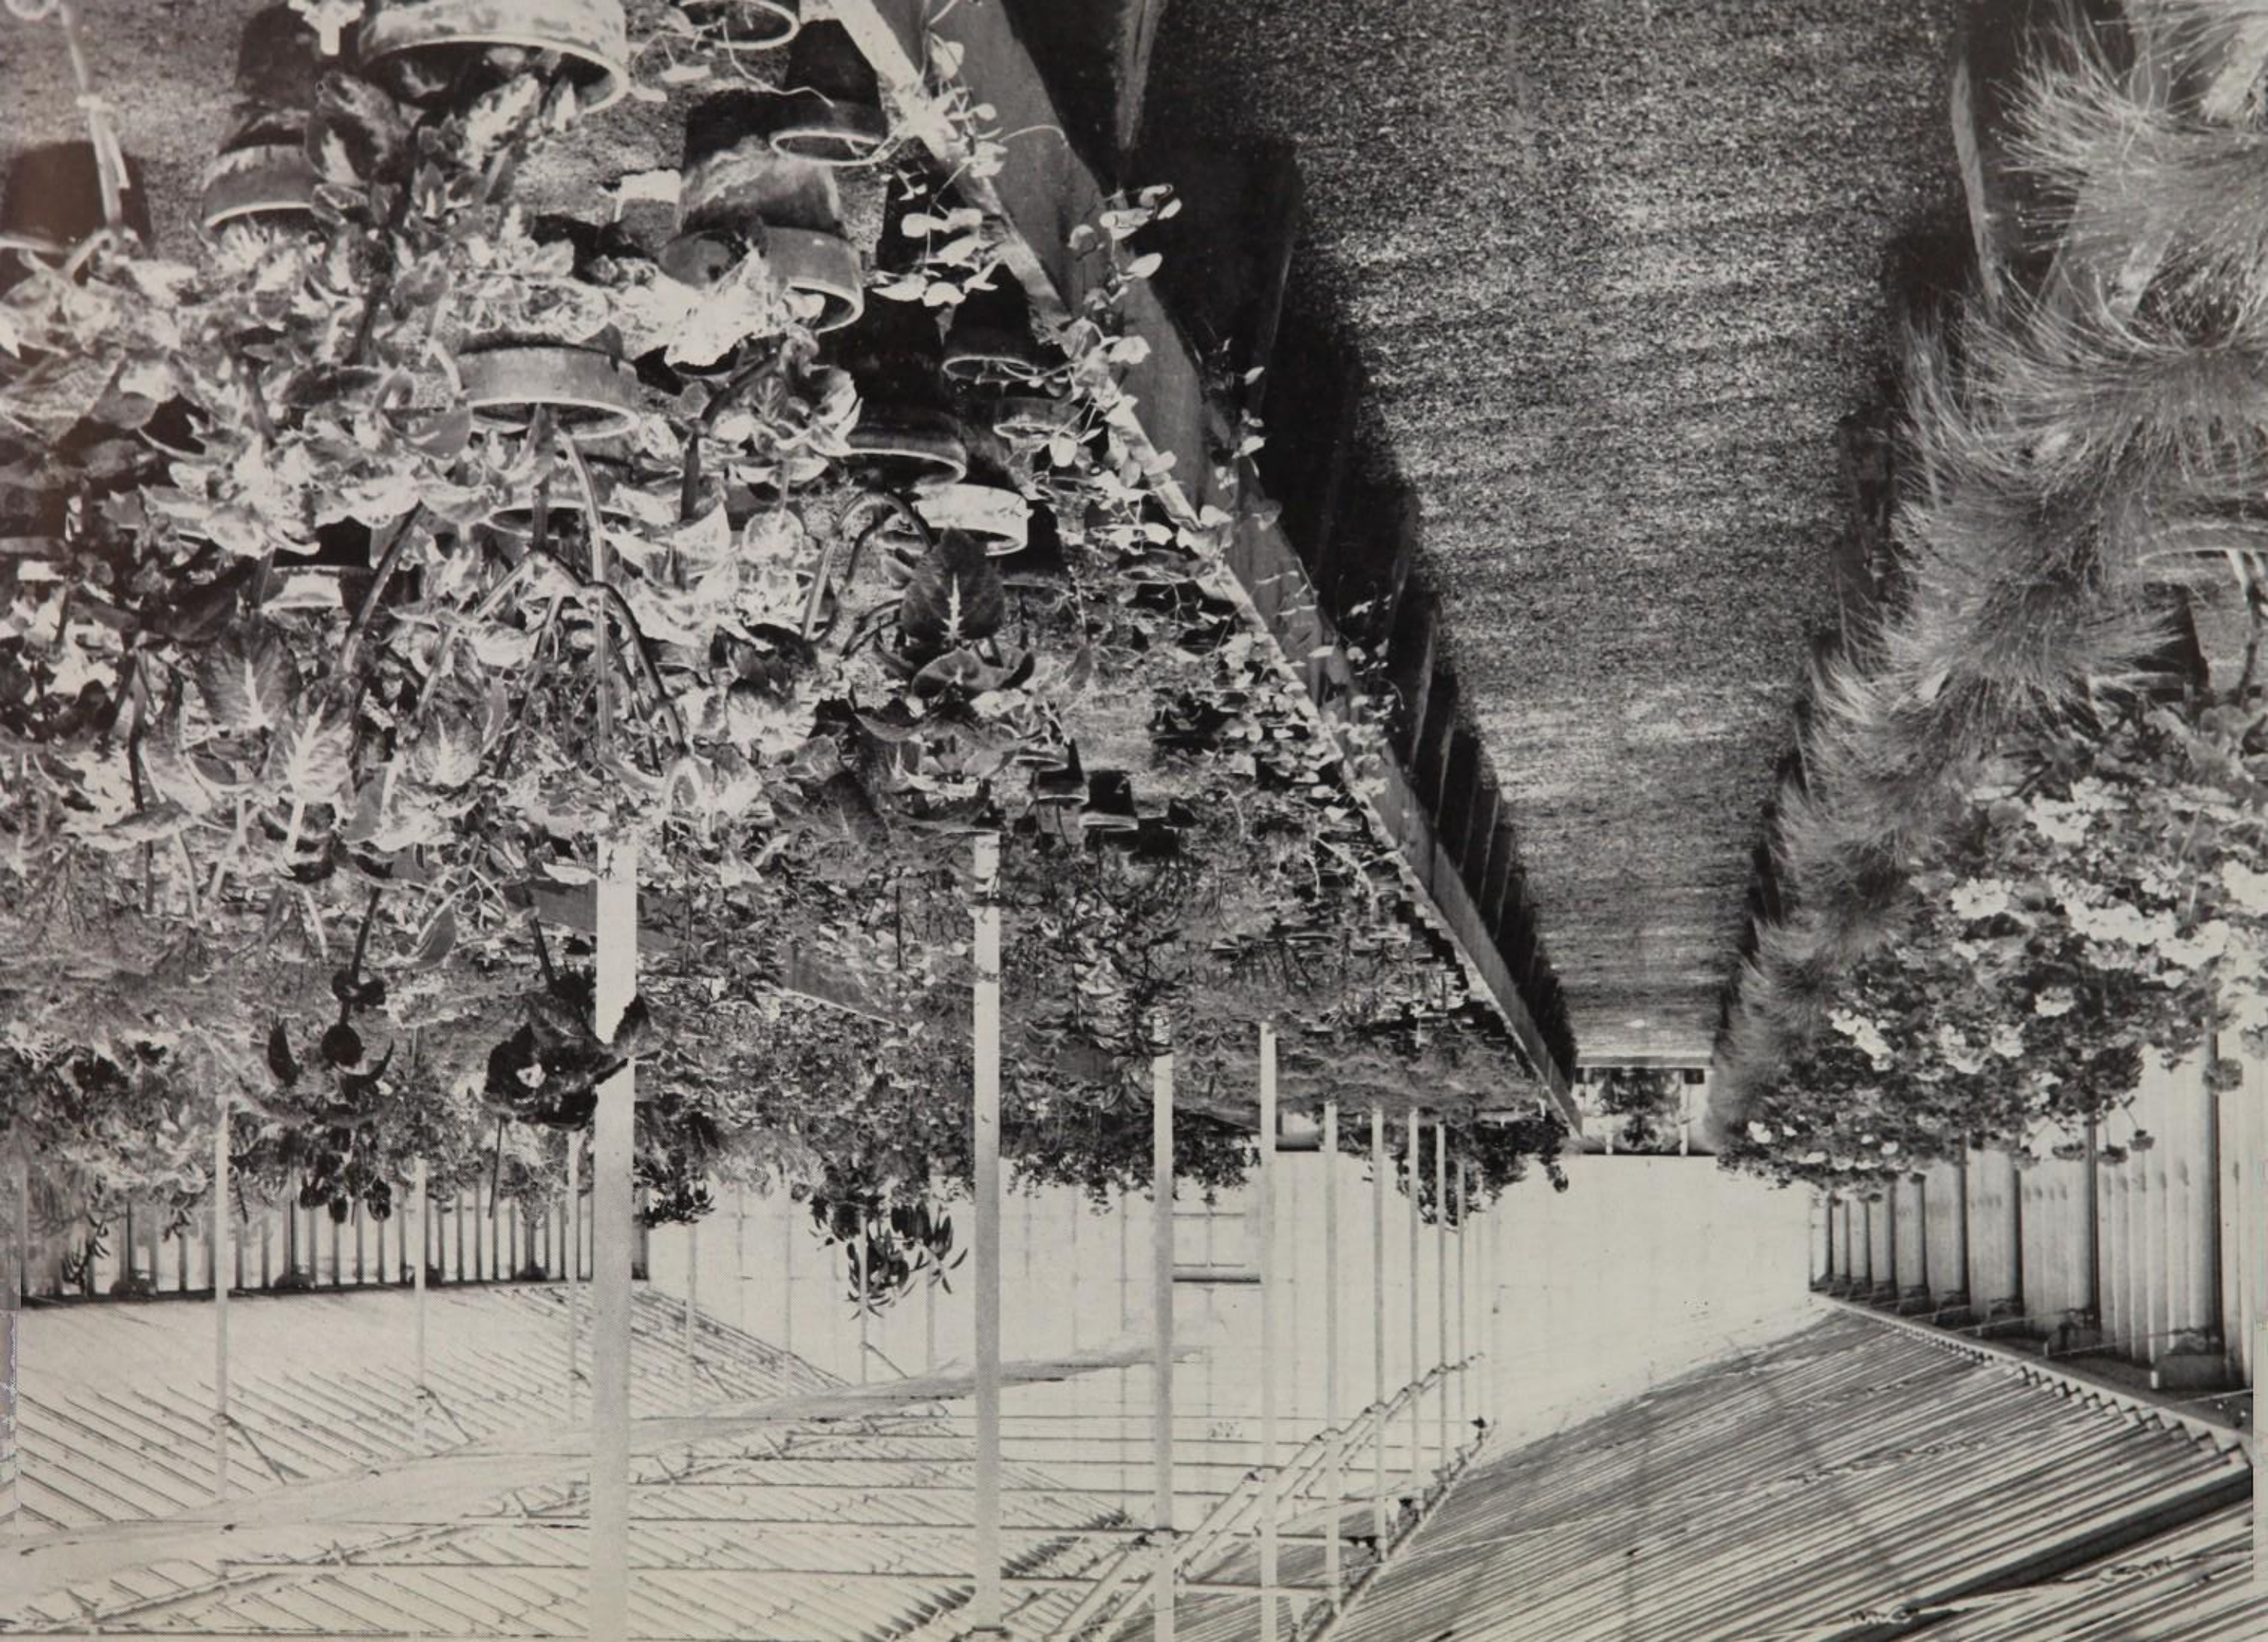
Program





The scene is set . . . amid green grass and trees . . . seemingly endless rows of steps . . . and an abundance of good fellowship among the players.

Meet the leaders of school activities who directed us in producing this drama of high school life.

Directing

The Board of Commissioners are very rightly called the directors of the play, as almost every phase of student body participation is guided by one of the commissioners.

The job of head director, the president of the school, was filled by Nancy Reynolds for the fall semester and in the spring aptly handled by Frank Moulton. Jean Bartelmeh presided over the Girls' League for the autumn term, preparing the assemblies and various activities of the girls and in the spring the office was held by Sally McSpadden. The Commissioner of Records, who acts as secretary to the board was Sue Baruch in the fall and Mary Ann Rubel for the spring. The office of Boys League President was held first by Ken Wheeler and then by Ed Rammelkamp, who had the job of organizing the boys' activities for the semester.

In the fall Ken Takemura and in the spring Sumiko Yawata were seen constantly busy with receipt books, appropriations, and school finances in the office of Commissioner of Finance. The Commissioner of Organizations who is in charge of the school elections which are run so efficiently and any other organizing was Johnny Bush for the fall semester and Carol Fox in the spring. The registration of automobiles at University High, a plan which has been copied by a number of other schools was added to the duties of the Commissioner of Safety this year. This commissionership was undertaken by Bert Perkins in the fall and Dick Hearn for the spring.

Pete McNair first, followed by Philip Diamond, held the office of Commissioner of Scholarship, presiding over the Meledonian Society, and in charge of their activities. The Commissioners of Publicity, whose job it is to put over numerous campaigns such as the Warrior, Chieftain, and Senior play, were Meryl Riggs and Janet Bledsoe, in that chronological order. The Commissioner of Publications who lends a helping hand to the Warrior and Chieftain was Joan Hoffman, who held the office both semesters after working up to the job as writer for the two publications and editor of the paper.

The first Commissioner of Public Relations at University was Bob Craig, as this was a new office to the school in the fall term. His job was to be in charge of the affairs between the student body and the P.T.A. or other welfare organizations, and his splendid work was carried on by Jean Bartelmeh in the spring term. As the fall Commissioner of Athletics Bob Church had charge of the football season, while Bill Brown's scope in the same office this spring included baseball, track, and gym team activities. Bill Van Doorn, in the fall, and Marie Miriello for the spring, were the Commissioners of Student Employment in charge of the affairs of the cafeteria.

So under the able direction of this year's officers the school spirit of the student body and the improvements in the school flourished.

Heading the Clang!! The loud ringing of the passing bell was almost drowned by the sound of thundering feet, as several hundred boys hurried to another interesting Boys' League assembly. When all was quiet, the newly elected president sauntered nonchalantly onto the stage and called the meeting to order. Another program was about to be presented for the entertainment and education of the boys of the student body.

The Boys' League is not a small organization, but is, rather, one in which every boy in the school has a part. Its officers, elected by the boys, act for the good of the organization. The League sponsors several boards, among which are the Welfare Board, the Boys' Board of Hearing and the Entertainment Board.

The boys have never failed to make a wise choice in the selection of their league officers. The fall executive board consisted of Kenny Wheeler, president; Bruce Sieck, vice-president; and Bill Brown, secretary. The spring board consisted of the following: Ed Rammelkamp, president; Cliff Chisholm, vice-president; and Bob Cooling, secretary.

Under the supervision of Mr. Casey, the Boys' League led University High School in community betterment. It helps in all school drives, including those for social welfare. Participation in such endeavors unifies its membership, thus helping to create a more effective school government.

Uniting the girls for their mutual enjoyment and assistance is an aim of the Girls' League, under the direction of league officers and Miss Darsie. Paving the way year by year for the growing demands of the student body, the League has provided both junior and senior Boards whereby every girl may share in giving service to others. With the all important Board of Hearing and the newly created Senior Advisory Board are also the Friendship, Hostess, Publicity, Entertainment, Flower and Decoration, Suitable Dress, Welfare, Social, Hobby, and Literature Boards. Among the many and diversified responsibilities of these boards are the featuring in the showcases of attractive displays of suitable dress, the caring for new girls, the planning of entertainment for assemblies.

Among the numerous activities were two assemblies, the League Board tea, the excellent Christmas Drive, a Toy Loan Drive where 3,600 toys were gathered from the student body to be given to a neighboring lending library which annually benefits hundreds of children who otherwise could not afford the toys, and the annual Easter party for neighborhood kiddies.

The League officers are girls whose fellow feeling, vitality, and popularity have made them outstanding personalities of the campus. Piloting the League government during its fall term was President Jean Bartelmeh with sunny Sally McSpadden, vice-president; Marilyn Bradford, secretary, and Mary Ann Rubel, treasurer. In the spring Sally stepped up into the president's chair and Marilyn Bradford became vice-president; Janet Hamer, secretary; and Genevra Henley, treasurer.

Keeping things

Composed of eight members, the Girls' Board of Hearing leads all others in importance and leadership. To interview girls with various school problems, girls with an excessive number of citations and those who are socially maladjusted, to have monthly group discussions, and to give guidance to new girls are the duties and aspirations of this board. The persons cited are called by an office summons to appear before the board, where Mrs. Cozad, sponsor, and the girls discuss very informally the problem and try to help the girl with advice.

Meetings are held every two weeks throughout the school year, with new members selected every semester because of their experience on previous boards and their participation in school activities. It is felt that experienced girls know better how to help their fellow students.

Pat Hyatt headed the board in the fall with Rae Ashman as assistant chairman. In the spring Rae Ashman became chairman, assisted by Elsie Breslow. The board membership included Mary Louise Ryan, Thais Lenz, Lois Marr, Martha Stratton, Marie Miriello, Aiko Tamaki, Imelda Nieto, Margaret Ramsey, Patty Heap, Marion Leech, Adele Karp and Louise Twogood.

Rap! Rap!—"First case."

These are the first words heard by the offenders, as Chairman Ed Rammelkamp wields his impressive gavel. This is a typical meeting of one of University's most important service clubs, the Boys' Board of Hearing.

A boy who has broken one of the school laws is taken before this board, whose eight members are chosen by the Commissioner of Boys' Welfare. The offender is advised and counselled by the board and put on a sort of probation. "What do you say for yourself?" asks the chairman. The defendant explains. "Step into the next room, please." A huddle of board members. Defendant is ushered into their presence. "You are dismissed with a warning. Next case."

Mrs. Mary Ellen Lombardi
Counselor

Mr. Everett Stanton
Attendance Office

Mrs. Lombardi, the capable counselor, helps students in many ways. She checks over all programs to see that students are taking and intend to take the courses required for graduation, also to see if they have all the needed college requirements if they plan to continue their schooling. Students having troubles about graduation or college entrance requirements are always given kind and thoughtful consideration by Mrs. Lombardi.

In the colordays Mr. Stanton is often depicted as the boogie man, probably because of those dear little blue slips he hands out to the naughty children. A new cause for worry are those excuse forms now to be made out in case of absence. But that isn't the real Mr. Stanton—He is THE master of ceremonies, as displayed at the senior breakfast when he carried on with that well known Unihi spirit.

Prop men

Mrs. Ewing and her competent staff of cafeteria workers are among the best friends of the hungry Warriors, who throng into the cafeteria every noon for refueling.

Unihi's office workers prepare letters and notices of important matters and answer thousands of questions daily. Supervisor of this department is Mr. Wadsworth's secretary, Miss Dunlap.

Seen working around the campus, trimming, planting and beautifying the school in general is the fine gardening staff headed by Mr. Little. Also indispensable to the school are the custodians under Mr. Bolt, and Mr. Hudson, the electrician, known as "Boots" to the students.

Meet the Mohicans

Leading the dramatists

Meet the Mohicans . . . with the dying echo of the last Mohican's steps through the halls went the last class to have attended both junior and senior high school on the campus of University High. Their careers as students began in February, 1921, and from that day on they acquired a reputation deserving the title of "Mighty Mohicans." Under the sponsorship of Miss Lowers and Mr. Lindsey, who contributed uniquely in the Color Day, they began their activities by living up to their name as Senior B's when they defeated the graduating class, in Field Day. The Mohicans saluted the departing Atlanteans at the traditional semi-annual Senior dance in 1940 spring semester.

With the theme of "Meet the Mohicans," a cast of fifty Seniors presented their Color Day to the students of University High School on October 24. Woven around school life, it carried the students through their daily routine, on the bus, in the attendance office, at the Senior prom, and on the rooters' bench, with Mr. Stanton as the harassed villain. The Mohican class, resplendent in soft powder-blue sweaters with a contrasting bow and arrow emblem of navy blue and red, was presented to the student body, descending stairs on both sides of the stage and marching on through the auditorium. They were introduced through the combined efforts of Pete McNair, the Sleeping Beauty, and Alvin Levine as Prince Charming. Nancy Reynolds, torch singer, and Doreen Hayward, oriental dancer, added to the program a colorful zest that made it outstanding. A skit entitled "Home Sweet Home," a typical ham drama, was portrayed by Bob VanAnda, Pat Hyatt, Tom Duffy, Carol Aldrich and Bill O'Brien.

Seeking the star roles

BUCCANEERS

"Through the future years,
Long live the Buccaneers—
This is indeed a great day!"

With these words echoing throughout the auditorium, the Buccaneers' great day, Color Day, came to a magnificent close. On the morning of March the seventh, the Buccaneer Class began their senior activities by presenting "Pirantics" with a costumed cast of one hundred and sixty, the largest ever appearing on the Unihi stage. Following the huge production three hundred and seventy members of the summer class of '41 came forth in their colors of beige and powder blue. After washing off grease paint, the cast and the rest of the class adjourned to the gym where a box luncheon and dance presented entertainment for the remainder of that important day. Nine Buccaneers served on the spring Board of Commissioners headed by Frank Moulton, student body president.

as this play ends

Breaking records for membership in service clubs were the twenty-three Mawandas, fourteen Hi-Y's, and thirteen Knights in the Buccaneer Class. Mohicans and Buccaneers "buried the hatchet" and enjoyed themselves at the Senior Prom, January tenth. Again in June, the Pirates, this time with the Cavaliers, danced for the last time at their final prom. Leaders of the class during the Senior B term were Norman Allen, president; John Peetz, boys' vice-president; Carol Fox, girls' vice-president; Eleanor Blaisdell, secretary; and Peggy Dollard, treasurer. Senior A officers are Norman Allen, Meryl Riggs, Eleanor Blaisdell, Virginia Dietrick, and Wilfred Higgins. The class, known for its spontaneity and originality, was first to inaugurate the tradition of the merging of the Senior A and B class dues into one single treasury so that every senior class regardless of number will pay equal amounts. Honored by receiving Ephebian awards were Jean Bartelmeh, Janet Bledsoe, Carol Fox, Joan Hoffman, Robert Knudson, Frank Moulton, John Peetz, Ed Rammelkamp, and Marshall Riddick. Receiving Sealbearer honors were the scholars of the class: Jim Russell, Margaret Schnell, Virginia Wilson, Bob Schupp, Betty Williams, Frank Moulton, Peter Polk, Margaret Ramsey, Bob Reber, Janet Bledsoe, Marylyn Craig, June Daus, Maxine Hamilton, Jane Hashimoto, Joan Hoffman, Jean Hunnicutt, Kathleen Kelly, Robert Knudsen, George McDonald, Mary McNamee, and Fusako Mizutani.

Graduation speakers were Robert Knudson, Bob Reber, and David Doran. Guided by their captains, Mrs. Thomas and Mr. Jimenez, the crew of Buccaneers sailed through a successful and never to be forgotten senior year. Aided by the winds of hard work, continuous cooperation, and wholehearted enthusiasm, the crew embarked after three years of sailing, eager for the long voyage ahead of them.

PERIOD VII CHORUS

The A Cappella of University High is the outstanding vocal organization of the school. The students admitted to this select group are the cream of the singing talent. Under Mr. Keutchel's able direction, the members are trained to professional calibre. Quite often, these students are the ones who have proved their ability previously in the glee clubs and choruses. Chosen with the utmost care, they are rated for their singing, their ability to read music and respond to direction. If any promising material is discovered in the chorus or glee club, where the fundamentals are taught, the pupil may be chosen automatically for a place in the A Cappella.

University High School was well represented when the members of the All City Orchestra and All City Band were chosen. Under the deft and excellent training of Mr. Memoli, these students proved their merit at the Los Angeles music festival held annually in the city. An unusual number from both the orchestra and band achieved this great honor.

Just recently, a new group was formed, composed of the best players of stringed instruments. Called the String Ensemble, this gifted group of students gave several assemblies for the school. One of the outstanding numbers which was played by them had been composed by Mary Mac Namee, a member of the group.

Last fall, at the football games, the band helped to cheer the team across the goal line with its stirring rendition of "On to Victory" and other school songs. It also played at several song assemblies which were given before the student body.

The orchestra this year was one of the largest ones which has ever been organized at University High School. Playing at the talent show, color days, graduation exercises, and the senior plays, the school year was filled with varied and successful performances. The programs ranged from the heavy to the light in classical music.

Play within a play

Plays have been written about love and romance, tragedy and death, but never before about a red dress embellished with black poppies. When Penny Wood, played by Carol Aldrich and Muriel Mansell, decided to obtain said dress, no sacrifice was too great or too small, including her erstwhile beau, Chuck Harris.

Chuck was played by two of the finest drama students University High has ever had the pleasure of seeing, Bill Stimmel and Jim Parnell. For Chuck, the plot nearly ended disastrously because of one Roger Van Fleck, an out-of-town Romeo who captured the imagination of Penny. Roger was brought to the stage by the inimitable Alvin Levine.

Other members of the cast were Julie Harris, glamorous girl friend of Mervyn: Sue Baruch, Jean Bartelmeh; Mervyn Wood: Jack Garrett, Tom Hearn; Dr. Wood, who could not find peace and quiet: Ed Ramemlkamp; Mrs. Wood: Nancy Lee Nichols, Margery Sweet; Millie Lou: Adele Karp, Barbara Blaisdell; Effie: Phyllis Livingston, Rita Buccola; Elmer: Joe Bill Howard, Tom Duffy; Mr. Harris: Dean Markham, Frank Harding; Shirley Wentworth: Carrol Fox; Ralph Wentworth: Bill O'Brien. The guests included Dorothy Black, Mary Louise Fisher, Eloise Hendrickson, Mona Ohrtland, Wayne Husted, Laurel Lee MacDonald, and Bettie Schmitz.

June Mad

Under the usual excellent direction of Miss Barnes, assisted by Analylle Smith, student director, the play came to a triumphant close.

Mrs. Furbush, in charge of costumes and stage direction, had the able assistance of her enthusiastic students. When the curtain rose on the first act the lovely set was warmly applauded by an impressed audience. Leonard Cabrera acted as stage manager assisted by Bob Volkman. The skillful lighting was under the hand of Dick Harrison, manager of the electric crew. Meredith Mathews was in charge of makeup, and the set was designed by Norma Baker.

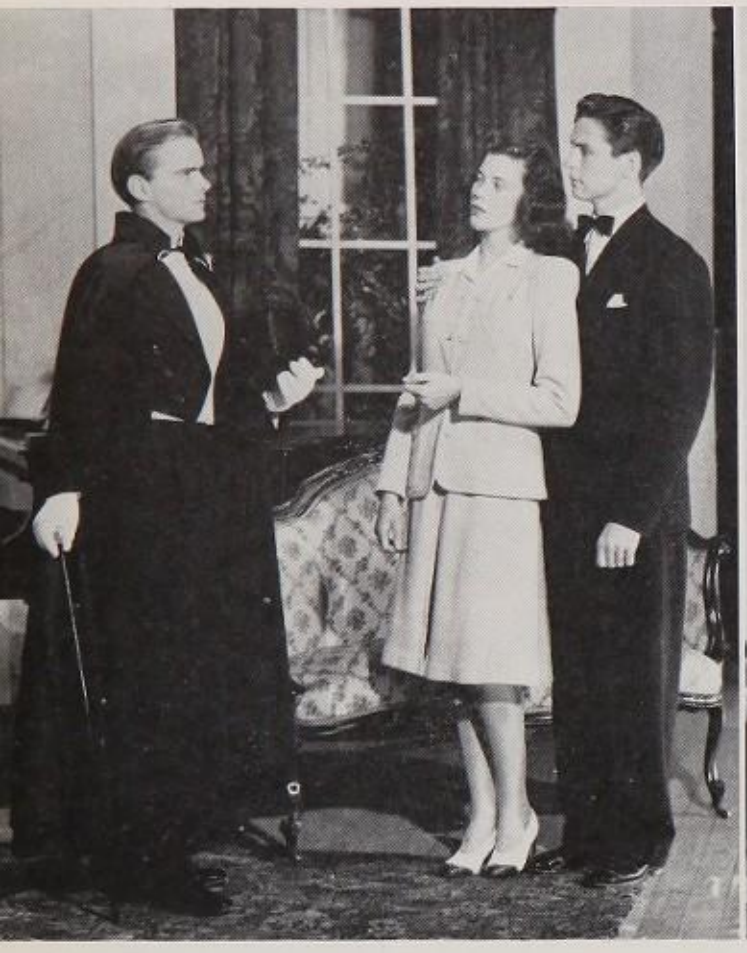
Showing life back stage—



The cad, the hero, and the heroine

Glamor versus pajamas

One of the finest and most sympathetically portrayed plays was brought to our school this spring. "Stage Door," written by Edna Ferber and George S. Kaufman, met with the utmost success here, as it has done wherever produced.

The play, double cast in the leads, as is Miss Barnes' habit, had two excellent actresses playing the role of Terry Randall. Muriel Mansell, one of the grandest actresses in school, far surpassed anything she had done before; while Sally McSpadden, a newcomer to the production staff, turned in a lovely performance.

"Stage Door" was a story of young actresses in a typical Broadway boarding house struggling for success and recognition. The plot revolved around Terry Randall, battling for her name in lights; Jean Maitland, who gave up her doubtful stage career for a soft berth in motion pictures; and Keith Burgess, writer of blood and thunder plays.

Jean Maitland was played by stately and graceful Mona Ohrtland and Helen Darling. Tom Hearn and Jack Garrett, two of Miss Barnes' most reliable players, brought David Kingsley, the movie producer, to the stage. Keith Burgess, the doubtful lover of Terry Randall, was well received by the two audiences when Dick Miller and George Flourney made their initial debuts on the stage of University High School. Tragic Kaye Hamilton was portrayed by dark haired Laurel Lee McDonald.

Phyllis Livingston was outstanding as Judith Canfield, who leaned successfully toward comedy and evoked pleased laughs from the audience. Another comedy team was made up of Jim Parnell and Le Roy Edmonds.

Two sets were designed for the play and carried out the predominant themes of rose and blue in authentic Victorian. The living room of the boarding house was done by Adele Karp, Meredith Mathews and Jackie Ferris. Margery Sweet was responsible for the bedroom scene.

Again the excellent executive ability of Mrs. Furbush, who was in charge of all the work behind the stage, gave just the right amount of finesse to the production. Daryl Arnold was in charge of scene shifting, and Meredith Mathews headed the makeup department.

Advice from Terry

Behind

Weeks before school plays, color days, and minor productions are ready to be viewed by the audience, the work and planning of the stage crew, which goes on behind the scenes, has already begun. Their first job is to plan and design stage sets and costumes. The production crew reads the script, studies the psychology of the play to make the sets fit the situations, then makes out the production charts. The set for "June Mad" was designed by Norma Baker, with Carol Fox and Jean Richards collaborating. Leonard Cabrera was stage manager for that production with Bob Volkman and Helen Smith, his assistants. The electric crew, headed by Dick Harrison, assisted by Charles Harmon and Earl Case, were busy with the many changes in lighting needed to represent the various times of day. An important job is held by the person in charge of the budget; he sees that the expenditures stay within a set limit. Small props and make-up are popular jobs among the members of the crew. Meredith Mathews, Genevra Henley, and Doris Lundgren were all make-up managers this semester. During the production of "Stage Door," Bob Volkman was stage manager, with Kenneth Wheeler and Daryl Arnold his assistants.

Costumes create a very interesting problem. Designing and making them must be done for a costume play like the Buccaneers' "Pirantics"; and for a modern one like "Stage Door" the color and style of costumes must harmonize with the stage sets. Mary Hayes, Bobbie Jane Orr, Carrie Lu Connor, and Marcella Teubert were all costume managers.

Right: Make-up artists turn Unihi lads into glamor boys.
Left: Combine boards with a sack of nails, a few pots of paint, and a great deal of ingenuity—and the stage is a thing of beauty.

Practical training for

No skeptic doubting the value of modern education could meet the challenge offered by University High School. Here, the practical arts are all that the name implies. No subject is presented in these departments that is not useful in every day life. Mere theory is not enough for the instructors, for they base achievement ratings upon actual performance.

In addition to sewing and dress design, Miss Green's and Miss Dickson's clothing classes dressed dolls at Christmas time to combine charity with learning. Miss Dickson is also sponsor of the very popular and active Suitable Dress Board. This board constantly works toward educating the student body in suitable clothing for all occasions. In a case in the main hall, they exhibit seasonally appropriate costumes, much to the interest of every girl.

The inevitable success of the "culinary route" to a man's heart is stressed in the cooking classes of Miss Bennett and Mrs. Brandriff. During the spring term the latter introduced a new course called House and Garden. It combines the regular time-making instruction with Art hints provided by the indispensible Mrs. Furbush.

The many keys to success in office work are offered by Miss Tubman, Miss Keefe, Miss Fountain, Miss Unger, Mr. Mitchem and Mr. Fife of the commercial department. Their range of courses goes from typing and shorthand to business law. Procedure in the offices of Mr. Stanton, Mr. Fife, Mrs. Lombardi, Miss Stevens and Miss Dunlap is made "simpler" by the advanced commercial students who act as office workers. They are taught application of their commercial knowledge, thereby gaining a priceless advantage known as experience.

Wherever there are high schools there must be Ford cars. Mr. Cooke and Mr. Forrester conduct auto shop classes to see not only that there are Fords, but that they run. Mr. Dowey and Mr. Bangerter reign over the ever-busy wood shops. The boys make everything wooden from toboggans to elaborate cabinets. The past term saw the wood-shop boys working overtime to construct an entire new set of high hurdles for the athletic field.

The print shop and Mr. Hallock are words to be said with reverence, for Mr. Hallock and his students render more service to more departments than does any other group at school. Boys taking this shop are kept busy printing the Warrior each week, and all programs, tickets, circulars and office slips used at University High School.

Mechanical drawing is a very popular subject these days. As the aircraft industry calls for more and more draftsmen, Mr. MacDermott and Mr. Armstrong work ever harder with many boys bent over their drawing boards helping to fill the demand for designers.

In the early part of the year one of University's newest organizations, the Commercial Club, was brought into being. Its first formal affair, the initiation dinner, was followed by a tea given by its sponsors, Miss Tubman and Miss Unger; and on May the second, they attended a business convention for youth at the Biltmore.

This club was organized to make the commercial course more attractive to students and to bring before them the problems of the business world. Another aim of the club is to guide students in choosing their vocations.

Among the people who helped this group get their successful start are Mildred Raber, president; Benjamin Adachi, vice- president; Cora Marie Starkey, secretary; Jane Hashimoto, treasurer; and Arlene Young, publicity secretary.

Scenes from our

Alive to the new challenge which world affairs and the national emergency present to high school youth, the Social Studies department offers a breadth and sequence of courses and activities designed to help students understand their world of government, industry, and international complications, to fit them for vocations demanding a background of history, economics, and government, and to prepare them to fulfill creditably their duties as voting citizens.

Tenth grade students may elect World Cultures, which includes a study of major European peoples and the European background of American history. The eleventh year takes up American Life and Institutions, the purpose being to develop more competent citizens and to give them an understanding of the country's major problems. The course includes a trip to the Civic Center, to study the work of the city executives, the courts, traffic hazards, and the jail. Senior Problems in the twelfth year includes Family Relationships and Vocational Guidance.

Three elective courses in the senior year are becoming more popular each semester: Pan-Pacific, a study of the countries bordering the Pacific; Latin-America; and the History of the American People. A Pan-American Day Assembly was sponsored by the Latin-American class.

Following the mock National Convention of a year ago, was the mock election in November. Each social studies and senior problems class represented a precinct, chose a deputy registrar, and an election board. There were also stations provided at which the rest of the school registered and voted. The ballots included presidential candidates from all political parties, state and local officials, and state constitutional amendments. Voting was done the day before the national election.

Dramatizing the idea of citizenship, a recognition program was presented under the direction of Mr. Ramey and Mr. Moore on Memorial Day. Further plans in line with this better citizenship program are being worked out by the eleventh grade classes and their committees for official launching next year.

Increased use of speakers, sound motion pictures, and electrical transcriptions are adding to the value and interest of the social studies program. A vitalizing factor that should be recognized is the student teacher group of nineteen men and seven women who received their training in social studies classes.

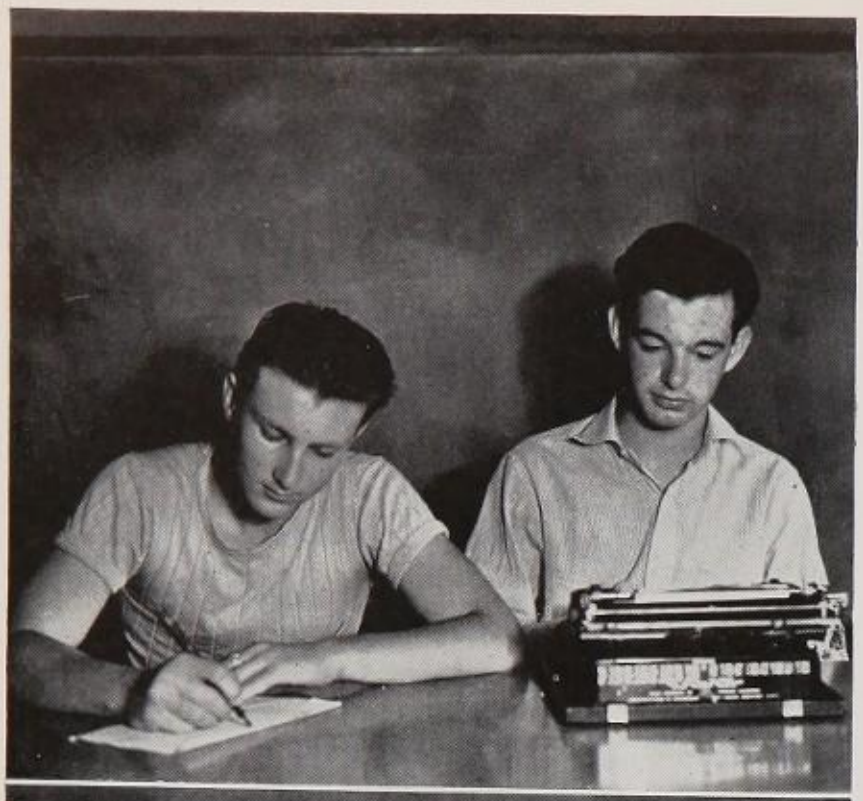
Publicity



"When Presses Roar!" . . . that's when work is being done, that's when copy is needed, that's when typewriters stamp out meaningless black type that eventually develop into important stories, and that's when rushed reporters have scurried the campus over, looking for news.

To serve the school by publishing a school paper of high journalistic standards and to begin the basic training of journalistically inclined students are the reasons for publishing the Warrior at University. The hard work involved in maintaining such standards is supervised by Mrs. Force, journalism instructor, and Mr. Hallock, printing instructor. Both departments work cooperatively in producing the award winning six-page weekly.

In 118, journalism aspirants are taught as soon as they enroll, to write news stories properly and effectively through the application of actual experience in interviewing and in the serious study of books, with the proper amount of "that old demon" homework added. Together with exchanges to mail, bulletin boards to arrange, and magazine stories to review, a well balanced course is had by every cub reporter. As his work progresses, added responsibility is placed on him and big "scoops" are assigned or even a column to write regularly might be the reward for work well done. But, woe be unto the poor staff member if stories are quietly sneaked in past deadline or if last week's homework is nowhere to be found. For then his name is displayed on the "Dog House" list and the jeers of fellow workers are inevitable. Every Friday, rain or shine, a test appears on the board to refresh journalists' minds on news of the week and points of importance in proper writing technique. Such is the life of the average University reporter.

But it's not all hard work; there's fun to be had, too. Members of the fall staff enjoyed themselves at the semi-annual Los Angeles High School Press Association banquet, where, as charter members, Marylyn Craig, Bob Harding, Fred Maguire and Joan Hoffman were named to the city-wide journalism honor society. To the University of Southern California campus went four representatives of University, where approximately six hundred high school journalists gathered for the annual Newspaper Day. Contact with National and Columbia Scholastic Press Associations, press conferences with the Los Angeles City Press Association, guest speakers at school, and Press Club parties at private homes all help to make the life of a journalist fast-rushing, hectic but fascinating.

Serving as Commissioner of Publications throughout the year was former editor, Joan Hoffman. In the fall Fred Maguire and Bob Harding watched over the staff as co-editors. Assisting as associate editors were Jean Hunnicutt and Marylyn Craig. Gail Dillenbeck took over page five as sports editor. Contributing witty features and Today's Politics column were Gerald Fabian and Walter Loy. Writing up of the soldiers for the R.O.T.C. column was the ever humorous Bob Smith. Licking stickers for exchanges were Elinor Tresselt and David King.

In the spring co-editors Marylyn Craig and Jean Hunnicutt took charge of the staff with associate editors Gerald Fabian and David King. Writing features were Walter Loy and Eugene Dvorin. Joan Lapp took care of exchanges, and staff cartoonist was Everett Way.

From the shooting of the first scene to the very last fade-out in our school drama, the publicity agents and camera men of the Chieftain staff were on the job. Behind the scenes of every production are the script writers, who supply the story. Such is the duty of the Chieftain staff, for they provide a record of all information and activities of the school year. The editor-in-chief, Maxine Hamilton, with Aiko Tamiko and Carol Aldrich, art editors, began planning the layouts in the fall, and by spring the actual production was well under way. Assisted by Mr. Richard Killen, Miss Reed took over the task of annual advisor for the first time this year. Bert Hickman, Rudolph Schaefer and Tommy Denison were co-editors for the crew of cameramen. To Dorothy Seeley, the student-body editor, fell the job of organizing and scheduling all student body clubs and senior pictures, assisted by Margaret Campbell, Rodney Donkin, Rodney Smith, Stanley Thorsen and Elinor Tresselt. The art staff, under the direction of Mrs. Petremont, consisted of Colleen Boyle, Lynn Bassel, Eleanore Blaisdell, Bob Campbell, Mary Helen Kunce, Marilyn Neely, Louise Putnam, Meryl Riggs, Gail Russel, Raul Sanchez, Aiko Tamaki, Carmelita Ulven, Sumiko Yawata. Cleverness and originality were shown in Bob Campbell's cover design and dry brush script, and Meryl Riggs' drawings and senior cartoons. This is the third consecutive year in which Bob Campbell has designed the cover. Doris Rasmessen, president of the Letter Girls, edited the G.A.A. section, Betty Schmidt compiled the drama section, while Janet Bledsoe wrote of the many class activities. Daniel Daley, in charge of the administration section, also assisted with photography. Winson Porteous, able sports editor, on the job during both the fall and spring terms, was assisted by Rodney Donkin and by Bob Nakaya, the latter being in charge of minor sports and clubs. Under the direction of Denise Rode, organizations editor, was the crew of reporters.

This year's theme for the annual centered around drama, the school year representing a rehearsal for life, with the various school activities composing the acts and scenes which now form the background for their future roles in life.

Transvaal daisies receive attention.

One foot in business are the boys of the newly created Vocational Landscape Architecture class. Organized this year as a three period class for the boys who have decided to engage in the various horticultural fields, the class has the unique advantage of working unhindered in a greenhouse which is the envy of every other school in the city system, as the greenhouse itself has five thousand square feet of glass, and is situated in an ideal location, a hollow where the warm winds of the Pacific sweep in from Santa Monica. With a maximum of twenty boys in the class, Mr. Roberts, the sponsor, succeeds very well in teaching his boys from the face of mother earth instead of from a blackboard.

The class enjoys a novel surplus exchange bureau where plants that remain in the greenhouse can be exchanged for those of other nurseries. Already the class has succeeded in beautifying the grounds around the girls' gym with giant desert plants, and on any sunny day can be seen digging terraces along one of the steep banks of earth which in a year's time will be covered with ivy. In a year or two other parts of the campus which have hitherto been neglected will bear testimony of the beauty treatment.

Those who have visited the greenhouse, with its cultured rows of potted plants waiting to be set out, must well realize the amount of time and work put in there, for plants are open books for telling who has done his homework, and can quickly prove those who are gifted with the proverbial "green thumb."

Now that V.L.A. is well under way to becoming a big time organization, it is hoped that the class will continue to add beauty to the campus and to continue to produce its many fine results.

Barn Stormers

When the school holds any of its frequent "big events," to have it publicized is the desire of the committee in charge. In order to do this it is necessary for advance advertising to be sent forth, and it is the Broadcasters who go from room to room effectively "broadcasting" the event. Another benefit of the club is that it helps the members to gain poise and experience in public speaking. Since a club of this sort must have a sponsor who has a command of the technique of public speaking, much of the club's efficiency is due to its dynamic sponsor and originator, Mrs. Johnson.

In the fall the Broadcasters gave 470 talks publicizing ten different events—dances, assemblies, and other school enterprises—and were just as active during the spring.

At last University High Schol has a creative writing club. The Laureates began their activities under the sponsorship of Mr. Moore, with Joan Hoffman presiding as president. The club was organized to help the members improve their writing ability and to study the style of great writers. The many events included the exchange of meetings with other schools and lectures by writers.

Knights

For nine years the Knights have been an active service club of University High School. Members of this organization are chosen with the intention of bestowing honor upon boys who are outstanding in all phases of school life and giving them the opportunity of further serving their school.

It is the duty of the Knights to strive at all times to better the standards of conduct of the student body, both on the campus and in the auditorium and buildings. This end is attained by having the Knights sponsor campaigns and drives for bettering the school while carrying on their regular duties such as ushering in the auditorium.

The Knights have two social functions each semester, both being given with the Mawandas. These two events are the Knight-Mawanda Dinner Dance and the Knight-Mawanda "Social."

The fall semester of this year saw twenty-two fine members with President Dave Cooke and Vice-President Bob Craig as the officers. In the spring there were eighteen members with Ken Wheeler as president and Marshall Riddick as vice-president. This year the Knights have been under the sponsorship of Mr. Casey.

Senior girls, chosen for leadership and for services rendered the school, are the Mawandas. Yellow sweatered members during the term were engaged in such useful activities as helping to supervise assembly conduct, filling stockings and delivering bundles for Christmas welfare work.

Believing that all work and no play must definitely be avoided, the Mawandas enjoyed one social function each month. The parties varied from simple ones with games and refreshments at someone's home, to the biannual Knight-Mawanda Dinner Dance.

The first experience of a new Mawanda is the formal initiation dinner where the president tells the aims and ideals of the club; her last, an impressive farewell luncheon presented by the non-graduating members.

Fall leaders were Lois Marr, president; Thais Lenz, vice-president; Eleanor Blaisdell, secretary; Carol Aldrich, treasurer; and Mary Louise Fisher, parliamentarian. Spring officers were Bette Mayo, president; Martha Stratton, vice-president; Aiko Tamaki, secretary; Eleanor Blaisdell, treasurer; and Margaret Ramsey, parliamentarian. Hi-Y

Divided this semester into two individual groups, Beta and Alpha, the Tri-Y has not swerved from its aim of service. The Betas worked hard in the Christmas Drive but played equally hard at their carnival and their pot-luck suppers. Their officers were Phyllis Whitelaw, president; Naomi Childress, vice-president; Irene Edwards, secretary; and Lucille Granger, treasurer, with Mrs. Cooke, sponsor.

Led by Mrs. Greene, the Alpha group chose as the term's project sewing for the National Needlework Guild, making layettes. Taking part in the area conference at U.C.L.A. for Girl Reserves, attending the annual carnival, and sending Merrie Olson to the conference at Asilomar were activities in which members participated.

In the fall the entire Tri-Y was headed by Marian Francis Leech, with Mary Chikasawa, vice-president; Lorraine Ringo, secretary; and Ann Pratt, treasurer. This term's Alpha officers in the same order are Merrie Olson, Virginia Porter, Virginia Kiser.

To create and maintain throughout the school and community higher standards of Christian fellowship is the purpose of the Hi-Y, a club consisting of about twenty-one boys of the finest caliber. The leaders for the fall semester were Bruce Sieck, president; Frank Moulton, vice-president; Bob Ralls, secretary; Anthony Ginther, treasurer; Bill O'Brien, marshall. For the spring term were chosen John Peetz, president; Anthony Ginther, vice-president; Bob Harding, secretary; George Memsic, treasurer; Marshall Riddick, marshall. Sponsored by Mr. Ramey, the club put on a campaign for a clean campus, hosted an All-U dance, and assisted with the Christmas work by packing and delivering Christmas boxes. Another activity of keen interest was their frequent athletic encounters with other clubs. Their basketball team won the All-Western League Co-Championship. At one of their meetings they had as speaker the Reverend Mr. Chapman of the Westwood Methodist Church.

LETTERMEN OFFICERS

Rainy day assemblies, yell-leader tryouts, March of Dimes—these are just a few of the important services rendered the school by the Lettermen's Club. Sponsored by Coach Purcell and the physical education department, this group is composed of those athletes who have earned a letter in sports. With a motto like "Good Sportsmanship" to live up to, the lettermen have served the school by officiating and maintaining order at gym meets, track meets, and other school gatherings; they sponsored pep rallies, letter-awarding assemblies, Helms Foundation awards and impromptu rainy day gatherings of student talent, and in cooperation with the Letter girls of the G.A.A. they sponsored an informal dance. They also prevented the illegal wearing of letters or stripes.

Two rules of the club are that officers must be Senior A's and the student body president must be present at all meetings. Controlling the club's activities are five central committees consisting of six members each. Commissioner of Athletics Bill Brown is president; Dave Doran, vice-president; Raoul Sanchez, secretary; Thor Henderson, treasurer; and Kenny Wheeler and Jack Elser, Board of Advisors.

Lettergirls

The Lettergirls' Club is a special interest club within the Girls' Athletic Association, formed to raise the standards of health, leadership, and sportsmanship. Its membership is limited to twenty-five outstanding G.A.A. girls.

Its regular duties are ushering at the Girls' League assemblies and officiating for after-school sports. The club sponsored a fall playday given for Manual Arts and North Hollywood High Schools and were sponsors, with the Lettermen, of a spring dance. For entertainment a social is given every month besides the meetings held every two weeks.

During the fall term the club was led by Carrol Fox, president; Mary Roberts, vice-president; Kathleen Keller, secretary; Haruko Yemori, treasurer; and Ruth Mundhenk, sergeant-at-arms. The spring term was officered by Doris Rasmessen, president; Bernice Huefe, vice-president; Dale Hewson, secretary; Betty Belding, treasurer; and Dorothy Bruce, sergeant-at-arms. These officers, under the spirited leadership of Mrs. Harlan, had a very successful season.

Luminaries

With Norman Allen and Bob Cooke holding down the presidency, the Sabre and Chevron Club had a busy season. They sponsored two military balls, the first being held on December twentieth. At this dance the Reserve Officers' Ladies' Association of Santa Monica presented medals and trophies to the members of the corps, both non-coms and officers receiving their warrants. The drill-down conducted by Lieutenant Colonel Bill Livingston was the highlight of the evening, while the music of Bob Condie and his orchestra and the balloon decorations helped make it a gala affair.

New members were initiated into the organization on November twenty-ninth at Grey's Inn in Westwood, where they were subjected to the usual indignities.

Honorary officers for the fall semester were Nancy Reynolds and Betty Roberts. In the spring term June Stewart and Oroville Thompson were chosen. Active officers for the first term were Norman Allen, president; Dave Charles, vice-president; Bill Prather, secretary; Bob Mallicoat, treasurer; and John Andrews, parliamentarian, during the spring semester.

The glowing countenances seen about the campus on report card day probably belong to those individuals who have qualified for Meledonians by receiving the high grades necessary for membership. Ably sponsored by Miss Tubbs, they well accomplished their purpose during the school year. The fall term saw the chapter playing host to the district meeting of the California Scholarship Federation. The Meledonian President, Pete McNair, was elected District Chairman.

Through the courtesy of the club, Dr. Joseph Kaplan, head of the Department of Physics at U.C.L.A., speaking to the students on "Science and Youth in National Defense," furnished one of the most enthusiastically received assemblies. The spring Meledonians were the largest group to date, numbering 164, with 151 fall members. Under the leadership of President Phil Diamond, they sponsored a successful drive to decrease absence and tardiness.

To have gained membership in the Meledonians is to have "achieved the honorable"—and upon the growth of this club depends the growth of fine scholarship at University High School.

The Foreign Influence

Highlighting the winter session under the direction of Miss Tubbs, sponsor, and Bill Lepage as Pontifex Maximus, were the celebration of Virgil's two thousand and tenth birthday, and the semi-annual inauguration of officers and the banquet to which the A9 Latin students of Emerson Junior High School were invited.

Besides these events over which Margery Johnson, newly elected Pontifex Maximus, presided, the spring session was highlighted by the visit of Dr. Eleanor R. Wembridge, who spoke on "Learning Ancient History With a Spade."

Formed to promote friendship among the Mexican students, Los Unidos has sponsored many successful activities this year. Officers, fall and spring, respectively, were: president, Aurelio Baca, Raul Sanchez; vice-president, Toby Hernandez, Joe Fajardo; secretary, Eleanor Rivera, Victoria Munoz, Rachel Rivera; treasurer, Raul Sanchez, Elsa Duron; sergeant-at-arms, Manuel Martinez, Joe Cruz.

To promote better understanding and friendship among Japanese and American students as its purpose, the Japanese Club has been very active. Its most outstanding event was a cultural program consisting of dances, a display of Japanese costumes, a demonstration of flower arrangements and an exhibition of sports presented before a local women's club. The planting of a cherry tree, a gift of the Japanese Club, will serve as a symbol of friendship among Americans of Japanese parentage and Caucasian Americans.

The Cabinet consisted of John Miyasaki, Tadashi Masaoka, Toshio Hirade, Mary Takemura, Sumiko Yawata, Jane Hashimoto, Masako Takano, Tomiye Mikami, and the sponsor, Mrs. Chiles.

Location Patrols

The Senior Auto Patrol, composed of selected members of the senior class, is an auxiliary of the Safety Committee, and is, like the Safety Committee, under the supervision of Mr. Fabing.

Directed by the Safety Commissioner, the patrol is largely responsible for the success of the automobile registration policy, which is recognized as the most efficient automobile registration and safety policy in the Los Angeles city school system.

"Gotta go on duty at my post" is a very familiar cry among the Squires of University High. Giving up half and sometimes even all of their lunch period to patrol the halls and grounds, the club members perform an essential school service.

The Squires are really the junior chapter of the Knights, and, led by their popular sponsor, Mr. Linsey, they are ready to assist the student body in any service that it requires. The student leaders of the Squires are always capable and outstanding fellows. The fall president was Bob Harding; while the spring prexy was Cliff Chisholm. Because of the stiff requirements for membership, it is one of University's honor organizations, and a boy who is invited to don the familiar black sweater is generally active in most phases of school life.

Coach Wilcox

Faced with a roster of inexperienced players at the beginning of the season, Coach Tom (Rabbit) Wilcox built up a surprisingly strong eleven to place fourth in the Western League title race.

Newcomers Chuck Leech, Charlie Vaughn and Tom Ottman along with veterans Jack Elser, Bob Ralls, Doug Miller and Johnny Peetz, made up the elusive charging backfield.

Breaking the way for the backfield were such sterling linemen as Frank Moulton, George Helms, Bill Brown, Leonard Cabrera, Thor Henderson, Art Moss, Gil McRae, Dean Markham, Dick Yates, Norman Leishman, Troy Horton, Jack Stokes, Blair Attridge, and Bob Wardwell.

Captain Art "Sticky-fingered" Moss was recognized as one of the best pass snaggers in the circuit by receiving a first string berth on the All Western League team and second string place on the All City eleven. Thor Henderson, tackle; Jack Elser, back; and Frank Moulton, center, were placed on the All Western League second team.

In the first league game of the season University earned a hard fought victory over the Fairfax Colonials on the latter's field to the tune of 19 to 13. Leech, Ottman, Miller and Peetz did most of the ball carrying for the Warriors, with linemen Helms, Yates and Moulton breaking the way.

In the University-Dorsey game the Redskins' aerial attack led by Elser and Miller put the local eleven on the long end of a 19 to 6 score. More than once Moss reached into the ether and pulled down seemingly impossible passes.

The Warrior eleven journeyed to La Cienega playground only to have Hamilton score in the last three minutes of play to tie the score at 6 to 6. With swivel-hipped Jack Elser slipping through the entire Yankee team to sprint 58 yards into pay dirt, the local squad made their only tally. Elser again put himself in the limelight by playing a great Playing the Western League Champion L. A. Romans on the victors' field, the Warriors were the victims of a 33 to 0 onslaught. Elser turned in the outstanding performance for the Reservation squad, averaging 45 yards for each kick.

In the last game of the season the Warriors lost to the mighty passing and running attack of the Venice Gondoliers with a score of 20 to 7, playing on the winners' field. The Redskins' only tally came in the closing minutes of the first half when Moulton recovered a Venice fumble. Miller passed for the touchdown and Peetz kicked the extra point.

squad defeated the Hollywood Redshirts 7 to 0. The local eleven piled up 13 first downs to the Hollywood Sheiks' 2. The Indians' lone tally in the closing minutes of play was a 17 yard pass from Miller to Moss in the end zone. Playing honors went to Vaughn, Miller and Peetz.

The varsity will be hard-hit next season through the loss of some of the finest players in the league. Those that will be missed the most are Art Moss, last year's captain; Jack Elser, Bob Ralls, Johnny Peetz, who is the fastest backfield man on the Warrior eleven, and Thor Henderson, Dick Yates, George Helms, and Troy Horton. The starting lineup for next year's varsity will probably consist of Leishman and Stone at ends, Attridge and Markham at tackles, Wardwell and Owens for center. The backfield will be composed of Doug Miller, Chuck Leech, Charlie Vaughn and Blair Fictum.

fighting Warriors

Holding down the cellar position, the University Bees had a bad season, losing every one of their league games. Despite this, many worthy players such as David Huycke, Stan Oswalt, Wes Barbour, Dave King and Bob Gray, will be returning for varsity ball next year. Under the direction of Coach Jim Pursell the Papooses seemed to click only in the Dorsey game, which they lost 12 to 9. The local squad led until stopped by an offensive by the Dons in the last few minutes. In the initial practice game of the season the Reservation squad played the Van Nuys Wolves to a 6 to 6 tie. In the first league encounter the Fairfax squad trampled them with a score of 22 to 6. The Venice lightweights overpowered the Warriors 20 to 6. Playing against a far superior Hamilton team the Redskins were drubbed 26 to 0, and dropped the last league fracas to the L. A. Romans 27 to 6.

Break

Seven victories, three defeats, second place in the Western League race, and one player on the All Western League team comprised the record hung up by Coach Jerry Marvin's varsity casaba tossers this year. Bruce Sieck was honored by being selected on the All Western quintet. Two defeats by the Hamilton championship squad and one by the Colonials were the only losses suffered by the local five.

Forward George "Bucket" Memsic played 40 quarters out of a possible 40 and scored 74 points. High point man was Bruce "Dead-Eye" Sieck with 100 points for an average of 10 points a game.

Taylor "Long Boy" Lewis, only returning letterman next year and spark of the team, scored 62 points. Lincoln Prater, Ken Wheeler and Gayland Dillenbeck alternated at the guard positions. Perry Bangerter, Jim Dunn and Frank Bowman also saw much service in league games.

The Reservation quintet scored 145 field goals to their opponents' 117. The melon tossers put 351 points through the hoop to their opponents' 292.

In the league opener the Hamilton Yankees won a hard fought game from the Reservation quintet 40 to 31. The fast improving University cagers put down a determined Los Angeles five 29 to 24. The fast breaking Fairfax five romped over the Warriors 37 to 27. Sieck led the local players with nine points to his credit. At last, hitting their pre-flu form, the Warriors shot their way to an easy 46 to 29 victory over the outclassed Dons.

The Venice Gondoliers received a 48 to 16 defeat in their game with the Warrior quintet. The Reservation squad went completely wild, shooting from all angles and making seemingly impossible shots.

The Warriors defeated the Dorsey Dons 36 to 28 in their second game. Captain Ken Wheeler sparked the local quintet by his quick breaking starts.

The crucial tilt with Hamilton found the local squad defeated 42 to 24. In the first half the teams matched each other point for point, but finally the title-bound Yankees shot into the lead.

The next game saw the Redshirts defeat the Romans 24 to 22, in the closest of the season's league games.

Avenging an earlier season defeat, the locals were victorious over their closest league rivals, the Fairfax Colonials, 40 to 36.

With Sieck leading the way, the Reservation casaba team closed its season by defeating the Venice Gondoliers 46 to 18.

Led by the only returning letterman, Fred Sawahata, and other fighting Papooses, Sutherland, guard; Valdez and Webster at the forward spots; and Binninger, center, the Varsity understudies placed third in the league. High point honors went to Sutherland and Valdez with 40 points each.

The Babes' first encounter with Hamilton ended in a defeat 34 to 24. The next fight was lost to the L. A. Romans, with a score of 31 to 10. The Redskins just couldn't hit the bucket the first three games, even in the fracas with Fairfax, which they lost 41 to 22. The next game was a victory for the Warrior Bees, for they beat Dorsey 35 to 21. Pepped up by this victory, they were victorious in the two following games, beating Venice 29 to 33 and the second game with Dorsey 23 to 15. The Warriors again beat Hamilton in a close 30 to 29 but lost the second Fairfax struggle 24 to 21, and L.A. again vanquished the Understudies 31 to 19. beating Venice 32 to 23 in the last game gave the Bees five wins and five losses.

Playing in the newly formed city league of eleven teams, the University Warriors placed fourth. Led by one of the best hurlers at University for several seasons, Ken Duncan, the Redskins fought their way up the ladder, winning six games and losing five.

Besides being the outstanding pitcher of the season, Duncan led the team in batting with an average of .383. Coach Marvin rated him as one of his most consistent players, along with Lincoln Prater and Kenny Wheeler. Duncan struck out 77 players and walked only 40 all season.

In the game with the Huntington Park nine, the local bag-taggers were victorious 3 to 1. Duncan, Warrior sensation, looped one over the fence for a home run; while the reservation squad played errorless ball.

The Warriors again returned home victorious from Hollywood with a score of 7 to 4. Chuck Leech and Ken Duncan turned in the outstanding performances for the local aggregation.

Again playing on the losers' field, the Unihi nine defeated the Venice Gondoliers 4 to 2. Prater, Wheeler, and Memsic played bang-up ball with Duncan pitching a five-hit game.

In the cross-town battle, the reservation squad defeated Los Angeles 3 to 2 on the Romans' diamond. Wheeler and Abel led the hitting, each with two hits out of four trips to the plate.

University lost its game with Riis 7 to 4 in a closely played game on the Redskins' diamond. Duncan had the ball game under control until the sixth frame, when a wild throw home scored two Riis runs. Memsic, Unihi's versatile second baseman, made three hits out of six trips to the platter.

Managing the baseball teams were Guthrie and Snow. Bud Gill, up from the junior varsity, played great ball in the outfield after "Gigger" Prefke left school. Smith, local first sacker, will follow closely in the footsteps of Lloyd Ellis, first sacker for the Warriors for the previous three years.

Go, go,

Firing from four positions, the fifteen-man Ninth Corps Area Rifle Team, sponsored by Sergeant Price, took 33rd place in a field of 250 teams from the regular Army and Senior R.O.T.C. The Hearst Trophy team, made up of the first five men of the Ninth Corps Area match, scored a 30th place in a highly competitive field.

The Tennis Team, coached by Mr. Taylor, and led by Roland Rudd, captain, played a highly successful series of games against their league opponents: Van Nuys, Redondo, Venice, Dorsey, L.A., and Fairfax. Members of this year's team included Rudd, Davis, Gottfredson, Bennett, Markham, Raguse, Anderson, Mackenzie, and Finney.

The Gym Team, coached by Mr. Dixon, though lacking in experience, ended the league race in fourth place.

Led by Grosjean and Joseph, only returning lettermen, the Warrior gymnasts lost their first encounter on the home floor to Venice in a thriller to the tune of 61½ to 58½. Traveling to Hamilton, the Indians were defeated by a superior team in a score of 83½ to 36½. The following two meets, held at University, were lost to Fairfax and L.A. High, respectively. Intent upon revenge, the Warriors invaded the Dorsey campus and carried away a sizzling victory to the tune of 71½ to 47½.

Top scoring honors for the season go to Grosjean, ace tumbler and long horse man, with a total score of 44 points, followed by other top scorers, Chisholm, with 38 points; McCarley, with 20½; and Joseph, with 20.

The Golf Team, led by Captain Conrad Jarabin and sponsored by Mr. Forrester, has been one of the best teams to camp on the Warrior reservation. In an early season tilt they smashed out a 433-438 victory over a strong and favored L.A. squad and scored an easy victory over a Samohi team, with a score of 555-562.

With Lieutenant Colonel Bill Livingston in command for the fall semester, the University High School Reserve Officers' Training Corps had one of the largest enrollments in the history of the school. Under the capable direction of Lieutenant Cameron of West Point and Sergeant Price of the U. S. Army, the cadets were divided into three companies. Captains for the first semester were Bob O'Neil, Norman Allen, and Frank Gillespie; Major for the spring term was Russell Reed.

Because of the jump in the enrollment of the corps, Sergeant Price was forced to requisition the army for more uniforms. Under the direction of Cadet Captain Allen the drill team turned out thirty strong; elimination tourneys brought it down to the correct number.

Moving pictures, lecture classes in reconaissance, and football games between the officers and men were but a few of the activities in which the R.O.T.C. participated. An active Sabre and Chevron club under the leadership of Captain Allen sponsored several events and its members officiated at the military ball.

Dancing lessons were given for cadets who wished to attend the annual ball, for which Bob O'Neil was master of ceremonies. A drill-down was the high light of the evening which featured the music of Bob Condie and his orchestra.

Medals were awarded at this formal affair to Captain Prather, best officer; Captain Allen, most popular officer; Lieutenant Colonel Livingston, best shot; Corporal Postley, best bandsman; Corporal Gentry, best corporal; Sergeant Howard, best sergeant; Staff Sergeant Smith, outstanding non-com; Douglas Beamish, best private; Warren Overpeck, best recruit; and Frank Kelso, best private's manual of arms.

The honorary officers for the fall semester were Nancy Reynolds, Lieutenant Colonel; and Betty Roberts, Major.

With Bill Prather as Lieutenant Colonel, the spring semester completed one of Unihi's largest enrollment years. In April the R.O.T.C. participated in a city-wide competition in the Coliseum. Thirty-six members of the band were selected to compete in the band division. Corporal Stillman Sawyer was selected to compete in the squad competition. Lieutenant Bill Burns was in command of a platoon from B Company, which took third place in the platoon competition. Out of eleven Los Angeles high school groups participating, the University R.O.T.C. garnered second place for the band and third place for the infantry. Under the direction of Lieutenant Cameron, 226 cadets entered the competition for trophies and streamers.

Exhibit held at the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce building were eight cadets under Corporal Richard Rice. Selected from the drill team for this extra duty were Richard Romney, Mac Willis, Walter Danielson, Douglas Allen, Carlton Sevy, Jack Bishop, Elmer Fetzer, and Jack Dollard.

Six members of the R.O.T.C. were present at the annual Americanism meeting held at the Ambassador Hotel. After dinner, members of the R.O.T.C. units throughout the city participated in drill-downs. A drill-down of the manual of arms was held for privates, corporals, and sergeants. Medals were awarded for first, second, and third places. A sabre drill-down was held for officers. In the latter the officers of Unihi carried off top honors, with Bill Young receiving a medal for first place, and Bill Prather receiving one for second. The annual federation inspection was held on May second.

June Stewart and Oroville Thompson were named honorary lieutenant colonel and major, respectively, by a vote of the entire corps. The honorary officers were escorted to the military ball held on June thirteenth, by the lieutenant colonel and the major of the corps.

A tense moment at speedball

Soon after school began our galleon was over-swarmed with buccaneers and sailors from Manual Arts and from North Hollywood. The event was a playday given by the G.A.A., the theme being pirates bold on seas of old. It was a novel event because the pirates of Unihi served box lunches instead of the usual afternoon refreshments. The visiting sea-goers, members of the G.A.A.'s of North Hollywood and Manual Arts High Schools, arrived at our port

Much ado about a ball

about ten o'clock and after a gala time composed of a program in the gym, competition on the field, eating, and singing songs in the grove, the adventurous G.A.A.'s departed and Unihi remained victorious on the home ship.

Before and after this colorful playday given by the G.A.A. and organized by the Lettergirls' Club, the group attended other playdays given by the G.A.A.'s of Dorsey, Manual Arts, and Torrance.

The G.A.A. prides itself in being a leadership training group. It gives good training to girls who wish to go into girls' league and student body duties or offices. Many outstanding Seniors began their climb in the G.A.A.

A continuous and stronger interest in athletics is stressed by the G.A.A. Many types of sports, both individual and team, are played. In the fall, hockey was played, but basketball was rained out and volleyball took its place. Basketball, speedball, and baseball were played in the spring besides the individual sports which were played throughout the school year. Tournaments in archery, badminton, and tennis increased the competitive spirit.

To further interest in sports and knowledge of rules, a G.A.A. paper named "Smoke Signal" was edited. The editors, Mary Vincent and Elfrieda Shoff, and the assistant editors, Hope Hambly and Beverly Ware, were assisted by a staff of girls from all grades of G.A.A. This G.A.A. paper was under the capable sponsorship of Miss McHarg and was printed by the University printing department.

One of the newest additions to the numerous sports was swimming, the girls meeting at the Deauville Club where beginning and advanced swimming, diving, and life-saving were taught.

The Girls' Athletic Association was led by such capable leaders as Margaret Ramsey and Ruth Mundhenk, president; Ruth Mundhenk and Jeanne Richards, vice-presidents; Sumiko Yawata and Dale Hewson, secretaries; and Sally McSpadden and Annie Miller, treasurers.

The G.A.A. is fortunate in its enthusiastic sponsors: Mrs. Harlan, who assists the members of the Letter Girls' Club; Miss McHarg, in charge of tenth grade G.A.A. as well as after-school activities of the entire G.A.A., also the publication of the "Smoke Signal." Miss Love, head of the girls' physical education department sponsors the affairs of the whole G.A.A.

One of our most helpful gym teachers is Mrs. Harrison, who works hard at mending the bad posture habits of girls for she has charge of the corrective classes. Despite her lack of spare time, Mrs. Harrison has found time to be the energetic sponsor of the Mawandas.
